Leading off the reds, the 2012 Côte Rôtie La Barbarine offers brilliant notes of warm spice, toasted bread, olive and licorice in its core of raspberry and black raspberry-driven bouquet. Ripe, textured and mouth filling, with medium to full-bodied richness and depth, it has solid mid-palate concentration, sweet tannin and a down right hard to resist profile. Drink this sexy Côte Rôtie over the coming decade. While Yves Gangloff fashions a decidedly rich, full-bodied style of white, his reds are incredibly elegant, seamless and perfumed.
